Dear Doctor Garcia:

Your attendance at our Committee of 100 meeting here last Thursday as one of its participating members was most gratifying to me. You have already been assigned to one of the working committees where we believe your knowledge and interest can be put to good use. You will shortly receive from the Chairman of the Committee to which you have been assigned a further briefing on the next steps toward getting its work under way. I shall follow your Committee's progress with deep personal interest.

I can't help but feel that the results of this objective evaluation of selected areas of House operations by a group of concerned Texans will prove of great value to our State and its people. As I said in my opening remarks at Thursday's meeting, it is my desire that this Committee of 100 be an active witness for responsible representative government in a growing dynamic State. And I thank you once again for being a part of this challenging effort.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Garcia:

The enclosed certificate of appreciation is a very modest expression of my deep gratitude to you for accepting service as a working member of our Citizens' Committee of One Hundred.

I have been delighted with the fine start the Committee has made in undertaking its study of the duties, responsibilities, ethics and compensation of members of the House of Representatives. I believe that some very worthwhile results will accrue in terms of more effective handling of our growing legislative workloads. If this can be brought about, your good work will have achieved something of benefit to all the people of Texas.

Best regards, and I look forward to seeing you in the near future.

Sincerely
