CHARLES E. RODGERS, JR. 354 ELM ROAD BRIARCLIFF MANOR, NEW YORK

December 29, 1970

Dear Hector:

The only sadness I felt at Chrismas time was when I read your note. Lib shares with me the exceedingly deep feeling of remorse in reading how you how you were hurt by the irresponsible and injudicious remarks of J. Edgar Hoover. Having lived with you those few years abroad and having known you for these twenty years, I know of your unbounded dedication and personal application to your people. Yet I know that despite this first hand intimate knowledge it is unquestionably a fragment of the work you have done at enormous personal sacrifice.

I don't know what I am going to do with this letter but I promise you I'll do something. My heart goes out to you for having been subjected to this unwarranted disappointment.

Very sincerely,

Charles E. Rodgers, Jr.
