

Speech sparks observations

Editor, the Caller:

In reference to the speech delivered before the Friday Morning Group by Dr. Hector P. Garcia I would like to make the following comments:

—Dr. Garcia contends that the Anglo population of Corpus Christi has not done its part in the area of integration. He says that more students should have transferred to Moody and Miller under a minority transfer. I think Dr. Garcia should look back and find that he has previously said that the education gained at these schools has been inferior to other high schools in Corpus Christi. So now, he turns right around and wants students to transfer there. Sounds hypocritical to me.

—In reference to his contention that college testing in schools should be free I can see no reason for this. Dr. Garcia thinks that only the best students can afford to take these tests. If these tests are so important, then why can't the student dig up enough money to take them. Seems to me if these tests are so beneficial, they should, in due time, pay for themselves.
