Meet Governor Bill Clinton

Bill Clinton, 44, the 42nd Governor of Arkansas, is only the second person in the state's history to be elected to five terms as governor. Clinton announced his candidacy for the presidency on October 3 in Little Rock, Arkansas.

In a June 1991 Newsweek survey, his fellow governors ranked Clinton the most effective governor in the country. In Arkansas he has worked to improve education and increase employment. Arkansas has led all surrounding states in job growth for several years and its education improvements have been nationally recognized. In 1991, Gov. Clinton and the Legislature enacted one of the most sweeping legislative programs in the state's history, including major education, health and environmental packages, and tax cuts for low and middle income Arkansans.

Gov. Clinton served as co-chair of the President's Education Summit with Governors and played a major role in drafting the National Education Goals. He is former chairman of the Democratic Leadership Council and past chairman of the National Governors' Association(NGA). He currently serves as co-chairman of the NGA Task Force on Health Care.

Gov. Clinton earned a bachelor's degree from Georgetown University. He was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University and earned his law degree from Yale University. His wife, Hillary, an attorney, chairs the Board of Directors of the Children's Defense Fund and American Bar Association Commission on Women in the Profession. The Clintons have one child, Chelsea, a student in Little Rock Public Schools.
