Monday, April 6, 2020 -

Nothing has really happened today, other than me working on some school work. I haven't learned anything new about avoiding the pandemic or in general, it's still just stay in, avoid contact, wash hands, repeat.

Wednesday, April 8, 2020 -

Well, I played ladderball with my mom, and worked on my school work, but I just can't think. I have artist's block, writer's block, every kind of block imaginable.

Monday, April 13, 2020 -

Nothing to add today, other than that yesterday, for Easter, me and my family had a cascarone fight.

Friday, April 17, 2020 -

I've been lazing about all day, so I don't have anything to add.

Tuesday, April 21, 2020 -

Me and my mom have fixed up her old bike, so I've been riding it daily to get out of the house. It feels good not being confined to it. I've gained a sense of freedom I haven't felt since March.
