Dear Hector,

Your graduation speech at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center was a glorious success as I've been told by several who attended the ceremonies. I regret missing the program. From her notes, Janet Miller, my secretary, recounted the outline of your address, a very appropriate one. I was pleased to have that information. Also I heard from a member of our anesthesiology staff, Ed Johnson, who served as a Marshall, and from the President of the health science center, Dr. Kern Wildenthal. They were all complimentary. I was not surprised, of course, but I was gratified.

I hope you enjoyed your visit in Dallas, and I hope you will come again at a time when I am in town.

Best wishes for continued happiness and success in your work, and especially I hope you are successful in improving the plight of the people in the Colonias.

Sincerely,
