Ike Warns Influence-Peddlers to Steer Clear

No-Privilege Orders Cited

WASHINGTON —UP—President Eisenhower angrily warned influence-peddlers Friday to steer clear of his administration.

He said government officials are under long-standing orders from him to throw out of their offices instantly anybody who tries to claim political influence or privilege in dealings with the government.

The President also served notice at his news conference that if it ever comes to his attention that anyone within his administration is trying to exercise influence, such a person will be fired immediately.

Mr. Eisenhower's spirited denunciation of persons claiming influence in dealing with units of his administration was produced by questions involving Murray Chotiner, Chotiner was 1952 campaign manager for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Chotiner testified Thursday before the Senate Investigations subcommittee that in representing clients with federal agencies, he had never traded on Nixon's influence.

The President said he was not conversant with all of Chotiner's testimony, but he wanted reporters to know that early in his administration he had issued two specific orders:

1. Any person having business with the government should be treated with courtesy. The President said he would not stand for arrogance on the part of any public official.

2. If anyone ever claimed political influence or privilege because he is a friend of the President or someone in his official family, the person making such a claim is to be thrown out instantly.

The President said that in the Chotiner case — as far as he was familiar with it — he had no reason to believe that either of these orders had been violated.

$116,165 Crash Damages Sought

EDINBURG — A $116,165 damage suit was filed in district court here today against the Texas and New Orleans Railroad by the survivors of one of three persons killed in a car-train crash April 19 in McAllen.

The suit was filed by Rebecca R. Ramirez, widow of one of the victims, and her four children.

Alfredo Ramirez was a passenger in a car driven by Frank Harms that was struck at a Pecan street grade crossing, Ramirez, Harms, and Harms' mother-in-law, Rafaela Cisneros, all died from injuries suffered in the crash.

The complaint alleged that the train was traveling at a "dangerous and excessive rate of speed" in violation of a 15-mile-per hour ordinance in McAllen.

It also alleged the train did not sound a whistle, keep a proper lookout, or place a flagman at the crossing. The suit finally contends the railroad was negligent in not having installed a signal device at the crossing.

His Last Wish Must Be Denied

CHICAGO —UP— Police found Henry B. Johnson, 53, shot to death in his hotel room Thursday. A note near his body asked that his eyes be removed to help a blind person.

But police said Johnson could not have his last wish. The shotgun blast which killed him also damaged his eyes and made them useless for science.

TESTS START SATURDAY

Small Blast Slated to Set Off Biggest Atomic Series

ENIWETOK, Saturday —UP— The Atomic Energy Commission hoped to set off a "small" atomic blast Saturday, starting the biggest nuclear test program ever held in the Pacific.

Officials said the first blast will equal a few thousand tons of TNT, comparable to many of the explosions staged in the Nevada proving ground.

The opening shot was scheduled to be fired at 6:25 a.m. Eniwetok time (12:25 p.m. est Friday), the task force announced early Friday.

The weapon will be exploded on the surface of Runit Island on the

Ike Charges Russia Blocks Peace Efforts

WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower said Friday the entire western world is disappointed with Russia's continued refusal to accept the idea of inspection as a key step toward disarmament.

Mr. Eisenhower was asked at his news conference what he thought of the stalemated five-power disarmament talks ending in London.

The President said there must be inspection or people would just become more frightened.

If the free world does not know more about what is going on behind the Iron Curtain in disarmament, the President said, this nation will not disarm any more than it is today.

Paths to Be Explored But he said the United States will explore every path in an effort to convince Russia that the way to disarmament is to promote confidence through adequate inspection procedures.

The President said he does not believe disarmament is going to come about any other way.

He said the purpose of building confidence through inspection is for both sides to show each other what the other side is doing.

Mr. Eisenhower did not mention the recent talk in London between the disarmament adviser, Harold E. Stassen, and Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev. Stassen, who represents the United States at the five-power London talks, blamed the stalemate on the unyielding Soviet position at the top level. Khrushchev, while he was in London, described Mr. Eisenhower's mutual aerial inspection plan as "fantasy."

Other Comments Given The President also made these other comments related to foreign affairs:

1. The United States believes its foreign aid program must be largely carried out for the foreseeable future in a bilateral basis rather than through the United Nations. The United States is the heaviest contributor to UN technical aid projects. The United States believes that in practice, however, the major part of U.S. foreign aid could not now be channeled through the UN because it is impossible so far to keep politics out of the UN. In these remarks, the President seemed to be modifying his views of last week about channeling foreign aid through the UN.

2. The proposed new study on the foreign aid program would investigate the situation and might report to Congress early next year. But the administration right now is only studying ways and means to establish a commission to determine whether the foreign aid program is being handled properly. The President at the same time urged congressional approval of his $4.9 billion foreign aid request.

3. The United States is working on details of a new agreement with Saudi Arabia for U.S. use of the strategic air base at Dhahran. The President declined to go beyond that in commenting on reports that the air base negotiations were linked with a Saudi Arabian request for enough arms to complete a 35,000-man Saudi Arabian internal security force.

Officials refused to say how far observers aboard the communications ship USS Mt. McKinley will be, but it was understood the ship will be about 11 miles away.

This suggests the explosion will be larger than the average weapon tested at the Nevada proving ground where observers in the open have been as close as seven miles.

A last minute wind shift could cause another postponement of the opening shot.

The surface shot will kick hundreds of tons of radioactive dust into the air, endangering task force members if the wind direction is wrong.

If the wind is right, no fallout will escape the 375,000 square mile hazard area which all nations have been warned to avoid.

The explosion will open a test program of more than 10 shots, including the first American H-bomb airdrop scheduled for Bikini on May 8. The airdrop will be equivalent to several million tons of TNT.

House Passes Farm Bill, Ike Soil Plan

WASHINGTON —UP— The House passed overwhelmingly a new farm bill including a beefed up version of President Eisenhower's soil bank.

But Republicans failed to tack on the President's proposal that farmers be given $500 million in soil bank pre-payments this year for promises to cut crops next year. The soil bank would carry an appropriation of $1.25 billion.

The bill — passed by the House 314-78 Thursday — does not include the high rigid price support provisions that caused the President to veto the first farm bill last month. However, it does include sizeable price support increases for feed grains and non-commercial corn.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), GOP Senate farm leader, said he believes Mr. Eisenhower will veto the new bill in its present form. Aiken particularly attacked the support boost for grains.

But other senators — Republicans and Democrats — appeared confident the Senate would pass it and the President would sign it.

Texas, Mexico Agree on Trucks

LAREDO, Tex. —UP— A new agreement between Texas and the Mexican state of Tamaulipas has eliminated the need for certain commercial vehicles to get both Texas and Mexican license plates.

The agreement, which went into effect Thursday, covers only truck owners in Laredo and its sister Mexican city of Nuevo Laredo. It provides that local cargo delivery trucks, pickup trucks and taxicabs from one city may operate within the city limits of the other without extra plates.

Mrs. Smiles Is In Good Form

CHICAGO —UP— Mrs. Iris Smiles, 26, was all smiles Friday, because her husband satisfied all her requirements for setting aside a divorce decree.

Smiles bought her a new convertible, began construction on a new home, gave Mrs. Smiles a checking account, made reservations for a second honeymoon in the Bahamas, and promised to cultivate an interest in art and music.

Adlai Leading Now in Fight For Delegates

WASHINGTON —UP— Adlai E. Stevenson has moved out in front in the contest for Democratic national convention delegates, but his support can easily come unstuck if his campaign goes sour before the convention.

Of the delegates chosen so far, Stevenson could bank on about 175 convention votes against 62 1-2 pledged to his chief active rival, Sen. Estes Kefauver. Neither is within striking distance of the 686 1-2 needed to win the presidential nomination.

Both Stevenson and Kefauver suspended their campaigning Thursday to attend the funeral at Paducah, Ky., of Sen. Alben Barkley. Stevenson resumed his search for votes Friday in California and Kefauver returned to Florida.

Among the Stevenson delegates, only four votes from Minnesota, where he took a lead beating from Kefauver in the primary, and six from the District of Columbia, where he defeated Kefauver, are formally pledged. The remainder have indicated informally they would support Stevenson.

Stevenson's greatest strength is in Pennsylvania, where he is now credited with 72 of the 74 delegate votes. He also is believed to have nearly all of the 50 votes of delegates already chosen in his home state of Illinois. He presumably also will get the remaining 14 Illinois votes to be chosen at the state Democratic convention.

Kefauver has 66 pledged delegate votes including eight from New Hampshire, 26 from Minnesota, 28 from Wisconsin and half a vote from New Jersey.

Kefauver - Stevenson contests are still to come in Oregon May 18, Florida May 18 and California June 5. Defeat in California will be almost fatal for the loser.

West Is Warned On Red 'Smiles'

PARIS —UP— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told the 14 other NATO foreign ministers Friday they must strengthen the Atlantic pact to meet the Soviet's new post-Stalin smile campaign.

Dulles warned that the Soviet smiles were only a change in tactics and not in policy and advocated building closer political cooperation among members of the weakened North Atlantic organization.

Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd addressed the first morning meeting of the NATO session which was called to seek an urgent new lease on life for NATO and to meet Russia's peaceful penetration of Asia and the Middle East.

Precinct Conventions Critical Shivers Test

Leaders of both the Johnson and Shivers factions of the Democratic party locally were today predicting victory for their groups in Saturday's precinct conventions as they enter the home stretch in the campaign to get their supporters to the meetings.

Both Democratic and Republican precinct conventions throughout the county will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at places previously announced publicly by posting at the courthouse door.

The pre-convention campaigning that has been going on to educate the voters indicates there will be some lively sessions in the Democratic ranks Saturday. The Republicans are anticipating a quiet time with no issues over which to fight.

The Republicans, however, are urging good attendance at their precinct meetings in support of President Eisenhower and the two-party system for Texas.

Republican leaders urged that no Republican party members be persuaded by the conservative Democrats to appear at the Democratic conventions to help out the Shivers cause.

"Let the Democrats fight their own battles," said Mrs. Paul Armstrong of McAllen, district committeewoman. "The sooner the conservatives face the fact that their receding battle with the liberals in the long run gives them no voice in national party affairs, the sooner they will come over into the Republican ranks where they belong."

Ike's Farm Program Will Succeed, Reed Benson Tells Valley Audience

The Eisenhower administration is headed in the right direction with its farm program and needs sufficient time in which to prove it works, Reed Benson, eldest son of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, told an audience of about 165 at a Republican-sponsored luncheon Thursday at the Casa de Palmas Hotel.

Not only Republicans, but a liberal sprinkling of conservative Democrats and even a few Democrats identified with the liberal wing of the party, heard Benson point out that flexible price supports, voted earlier by Congress, went into effect only last fall. There were quite a few farmers in the audience, including representatives of the Valley Farm Bureau.

Benson said three years were spent by the Republicans "putting out the brush fires" of the previous administration and "getting rid of the debris of our predecessor."

Rites Held For Widow Of Pioneer

MISSION — Mrs. Lucia Pena Davis, widow of the son of Henry Clay Davis, founder of Rio Grande City and one of the Valley's earliest pioneers, died shortly after midnight at her home at 523 Dunlap. She was 84.

Mrs. Davis was a graduate of the Incarnate Word College in Brownsville where she majored in music. She moved to Mission in 1910 and had resided in the same house here for 46 years.

A funeral mass was conducted for Mrs. Davis at 10 a.m. today at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. Burial will be at 5 p.m. in the San Jose Cemetery under direction of the Flores Funeral Home of Mission. Pallbearers were Downey Davis Jr., Henry Clay Davis, Jose Rogelio Davis, Jose Barrera and Henry Davis all grandsons, and Erasmo Rodriguez.

Mrs. Davis is survived by three sons, Frank H. Davis, Downey Davis and George W. Davis, all of Mission, and four daughters, Mrs. Rosa Pena, Mrs. Guadalupe Barrera, Mrs. Gloria L. Davis, all of Mission, and Mrs. Consuelo Anderson, Rio Hondo.

There are 22 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Union Deposit Photos Probed

Union contributions to the Rio Grande Valley Democratic Club (Born Oct. 16, 1953. Died Jan. 31, 1956) has become a storm center in the Shivers-Johnson fight to control the State's Democratic delegation.

Shown here for the first time are photostats of deposit slips showing a $1,000 contribution from Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers (UAW) of the CIO; a $500 deposit from the Texas State Federation of Labor (AFL) and $200 from the American GI Forum.

Gov. Shivers will be asked to appear personally before the Hidalgo County grand jury May 16 to produce his photostatic copies of these deposit slips for donations to the Rio Grande Democratic Club.

Shivers said he has photostatic copies of deposit slips showing contributions of $200 from the GI Forum, $500 from the Texas Federation of Labor, and $1,000 from Walter Reuther's UAW Fund.

The Governor wants to know why the unions are putting money into something called the Rio Grande Valley Democratic Club. He has asked Hidalgo Dist. Atty. Jim Bates to put the matter before the grand jury. "Was the money used to buy poll taxes?" Shivers asks. "Was it used in violation of the state election laws?"

Booklet Quoted And he's asked Malcom Wilkey, U. S. Attorney for the southern district of Texas, to find out if these contributions violated any federal laws.

Bates readily accepted the Governor's invitation for a grand jury investigation. There's no word from Wilkey in Houston.

The Democratic Club's paid director, McAllen Attorney Robert Sanchez, says he wants the grand jury to find out where the Governor got those photostats of the deposit slips. He says his files were rifled by someone.

Ed Idar, Jr., union organizer who is also executive secretary of the GI Forum, has issued a statement calling Shivers "treacherous" and "ruthless." Idar has been saying things like that about the Governor for years.

The AFL, the CIO and the Railway Brotherhood (apparently they didn't come across with a contribution in McAllen last October) and decided to get together with the GI Forum (a Latin-American war veterans' organization), and conduct a "poll tax drive" in the lower Valley. The unions offered to pick up the tab for this "civic movement." It was to be conducted by a new outfit to be known as the Rio Grande Valley Democratic Club.

In a Spanish-language booklet, the organizers of the "poll tax

Woman Hurt In Gas Blast

HARLINGEN — Mrs. Emma May Pruett, 44, was burned critically Friday morning in a gas explosion in her home, 309 W. Wilmore.

She was taken to the Valley Baptist Hospital with third degree burns on both arms, both legs and her face.

Investigating officers said gas from an open jet filled the downstairs portion of the two story house and exploded, blowing out all the downstairs windows.

Spot fires in the house, which was not heavily damaged, were quickly put out by the Harlingen Fire Department.

Attendants at the hospital said Mrs. Pruett's condition was still critical several hours after the blast.

Wife Slayer In Tears at Edict

LINCOLN, Neb. —UP— A jury Thursday found Darrel F. Parker, 24, former Lincoln city fosterer, guilty of the Dec. 14 strangulation murder of his 22-year-old wife because she allegedly resisted his advances.

The jury, which deliberated 48 hours, recommended life imprisonment.

Angry Blasts Climax Demo Control Fight

By UNITED PRESS

Gov. Allan Shivers and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson Friday wound up their bitter campaigns for precinct-level support in their struggle over control of Texas' powerful voice at the Democratic National Convention.

Johnson, who Thursday night said Shivers would be a "Republican chairman" if Shivers was chosen to head the state's delegation to the Democratic party at Chicago, campaigned Friday in Houston.

Shivers made an early-morning transcribed radio talk and planned another Saturday. The governor completed his speaking travels through the state Thursday in San Antonio — the same city where Johnson was campaigning.

Shivers called Johnson "vicious" — in addition to the adjectives "vain and ambitious" which the governor used earlier. Shivers was commenting on Johnson's charge that Shivers was a "traitor to his party" and "a man with a warped mind."

Tomorrow Democrats throughout Texas will troop to precinct conventions to express their preferences in the Johnson-Shivers fight. The precinct conventions will be followed by county conventions and then by the state convention — the final showdown — at Dallas May 22.

Car Collision Injures Three

PHARR — State police investigated an accident late last night in which three persons of one family were hospitalized. The accident occurred on Farm Road 495 just west of the intersection with Sugar Road.

A car driven by Larry Wingert of McAllen was traveling east on Highway 495 and a car driven by Noe Muniz of Rio Grande City was traveling west on the highway when the two collided. According to state police, the accident was caused when the Wingert car applied hard brakes and spun around hitting the oncoming car with the rear of his car. Nine persons were in the Muniz car. Mrs. Muniz, Eva Muniz, 10, and Noe Jr., 1, were taken to the San Juan Hospital where they were reported in fair condition this morning. Wingert and a passenger Robert Leroy Chaney of San Juan, were uninjured. Damages were estimated at $700 to the Wingert car and a total loss on the Muniz car. No charges have been filed pending investigation.

Benson

Although Benson is not officially connected with the Department of Agriculture, he is closely associated with his father and as field representative for the Republican National Congressional Committee, he defended his father's farm program with verve, sincerity and dignity.

Benson said two-thirds of the gradual price decline in farm prices occurred before the Republicans returned to power and inherited billions of dollars of surplus commodities, which had stacked up because of rigid 90 per cent of parity support, with no controls.

"Handed Us Bombs" he commented, "and the Administration was blamed because it went off while we were in office."

The Agricultural Act of 1954, he said, was geared to a peace-time program including flexible price supports "with production for a free market and not for government bounty and for consumption, not storage."

The insatiable demands of war only, he said, had pulled farm prices up for a time, but beginning in 1947 they declined steadily under the rigid support plan. The 90 per cent of parity offered, he continued, encouraged men in other careers to take on agriculture as a side line and when controls were finally invoked, the man who has been in agriculture all of his life got hurt the most.

Cotton farmers, he said, priced themselves out of the world market because they disregarded the laws of supply and demand and the synthetic manufacturers moved in. Benson called continuation of rigid supports demanded by the Democrats as a campaign issue "as stupid as eating sour apples to cure the stomach ache caused by eating sour apples."

Under the flexible price principle in the past three months he reported the farm index has risen for the first time in years.

He said the Democrats inaccurately are blaming the GOP for the existing surpluses, which depress market prices because the excess commodities could be dumped on the market at any time.

Surpluses, he said, are hard even to give away since foreign countries do not want their farm production and prices ruined. The Pakistan rice growers recently refused to let a shipload of wheat land at Pakistan ports, he reminded.

Scores "Stalling" He scored the opposition in Congress for stalling on the President's farm proposals and giving him one out of nine requests—the soil bank to cut back production, useless when coupled with rigid price supports encouraging more production.

He said the effort to get rid of surpluses continues by barter and trade and by joint program with the state in welfare work. But, he said, although $4 billion worth of surpluses moved in the last few months "for every bushel we got rid of out the front door, a bushel and a half came in the rear door."

The soil bank had wide acceptance, he said, but the farm bill sent to the President's desk had "so many unsound proposals, they thought they had him boxed up. If he vetoed the bill, it would make him appear the enemy of the American farmer." The Administration, he said, "cannot outbid the opposition and place the farm vote up for the highest bidder and we are just not going to do it," nor he said would the GOP "stoop to crackpot theories."

Panty Raiders Gently in Trouble

AUSTIN, Tex., —UP—Disciplinary action was in the works Friday for leaders of a group of 40 male University of Texas students who raided the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house and made off with 13 pairs of panties, four slips, and three brassieres.

"They came from everywhere," Mrs. Lucy Worthley, house mother, told police. Officers said the students climbed to the house's roof on ladders and then kicked in a window.

Four of the students were apprehended. They were released under orders to report to Dean of Men Jack Holland.

drive" categorized Texans either as "ricos" (rich men) or "obrerros" (workers) and pointed out how the ricos could be driven from political power if the obreros ("with Spanish surnames") exerted their numerical superiority, presumably as voting blocs.

Sanchez to Appear
The handbook reported that it is legal to pay a poll tax for another person if he appoints you as his "agent." That was a surprise to most Texans who thought a voter could only pay his own and his spouse's poll tax.

The Rio Grande Valley Democratic Club's handbook to its poll tax organizers emphasized that "agents" are permissible and that county clerks cannot legally turn down poll tax payments by agents.

Apparently an agent can pay the poll tax of any number of persons who sign a document making him the agent.

Sanchez claims that copies of the deposit slips had been taken from his files, and said he wants Bates to determine where Shivers obtained the ones in his possession. Bates said he also will ask Sanchez to appear personally before the committee.

Two Escapees Stage Robbery

OKLAHOMA CITY —UP— Two escapees from the McConnell Air Force Base stockade at Wichita, Kan., staged an armed robbery and burglary here early Friday.

The airman, identified as Frank McQuiller, 19, Wichita, and Frank Primm, 21, New Orleans, La., were apprehended shortly after the armed robbery at the Quality Oil Co. Station.

Police officers said they recovered four pistols which the pair said they took from the Mashburn Arms Co. before staging the robbery, and $40 from the gas station.

The airman, who said they escaped from the Air Force stockade Wednesday, are also wanted at Wichita for questioning in connection with two burglaries there, police said.

Their car was reported stolen from Wichita.
