Dear Dr. Garcia:

Because of your interest in improved service for the Texas Hispanic Community, I am pleased to inform you of a new service to be offered by National Public Radio (NPR). NPR plans a new Hispanic News Service which will be offered to member stations starting on August 1.

The program is designed to meet the needs of both the Hispanic community and the broader public radio audience for news of particular interest to Hispanic Americans. The focus of the new service will be on domestic issues -- news, trends and cultural events. International issues and events will be discussed with consideration of their impact on the Hispanic community.

While the service will be provided initially in English, a similar service in Spanish is planned for later broadcasts. I hope you enjoy this new National Public Radio programming.

Should you have any comments or questions about this or other issues of concern to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

John Bryant
Member of Congress
