We have received a letter from the above named company, a copy of which was also mailed to you. We trust you have found your copy of the letter to be self-explanatory.

We are always glad to be of such assistance as is possible within the jurisdiction granted to us. However, the State Board of Insurance does not have the power to order a company to pay a disputed claim, or to resolve other disputes between the company and a consumer. This does not preclude you from taking legal action in an attempt to recover what you feel is the full amount of your damages.

We sincerely regret that we cannot be of further assistance. Perhaps we might be of service on another occasion.

Very truly yours,
